The authorâ€™s artistic intention is to respond to questions about the relationship between poetry and science, and about the status of lyric poetry as a genuine literary genre. Throughout the course we will read lyric poems, poems by the ancient, Renaissance and modernist poets who were interested in scientific problems, and poems that compare scientific ideas with the language of lyric poetry. We will read poems by Milton, Marvell, Seamus Heaney, William Wordsworth, Gerard Manley Hopkins, K.. and the work of contemporary scientists, poets and literary critics. We shall also read poems in which scientific language is made vivid in poems
