I have downloaded Acrobat Free PDF Reader Pro 2.0.4 Serial Number from the link below. A: The Adobe Acrobat Reader DC product is released under a derivative licensing model. That is, if you download and use the product from a CD/DVD, the license is valid for the single installation on a specific machine. When you use the product on multiple machines, you are effectively creating multiple installations per user, and those multiple installations can be used by any number of users, in any number of. If your goal is to offer a service to help users manage their multiple installations, then you need to register a separate license for this. Q:

Where does Filezilla store it's configuration? I just downloaded Filezilla. It's obviously not in my $PATH, so I moved it to /usr/bin/ I'm using Filezilla on the command line and it doesn't seem to want to work with paths like 192.168.1.100/share/directory where the config file is. Where is the config file stored? A: Configuration files usually are in /etc/filezilla directory, for example, if your filezilla version is 2.97.0 A: Conf files are in /etc/filezilla directory. Check config at /etc/filezilla/filezilla.conf
