This morning, before his remarks at the White House, President Donald Trump took a few minutes to comment on the cancellation of the Axon All-Star Shootout. This was reported earlier, but still interesting, as it's going to be interesting to see what action his team will take as the US is now down two A-list celebrity players with the Axon 2015 Play of the Year runner-up, Ryan Lochte, pulling out of the event over "security reasons." "We decided not to participate because of what happened with Ryan Lochte," Trump said. "We decided that it wasn't going to be appropriate to have the swimmer there. That's their decision, but I do think that Ryan Lochte is a tremendous person. I think he's a very good swimmer. Although Lochte claims he was playing along with a prank, "I shouldn't have lied about it," Lochte said. Sportsnet contributor Eric Koreen believes Lochte was probably a bit more than just joking around, and suggested that he's going to face some sort of penalty for his actions. "I don't think it was a prank," Koreen told Dan O'Toole on Sportsnet 590 The FAN. "I think it was just inappropriate and I think they're going to put
