If you don't have 64-bit Windows, get the 32-bit version. You are using Mednafen because you want the best in emulation accuracy for your console, right? For future reference, 64-bit systems are usually classified as x86 (read about it in Wikipedia), and 32-bit Windows are x86-32. To load games in Mednafen, select your console on the 'Go' menu and select 'Load Game'. Next, select the folder that you want to load games into and type in the title of the game. Play around with the options for the best emulation accuracy. Save the game if you want, but don't save to the root directory because you want all your games to be on your root directory. If you don't know how to save games, then you're in trouble. Do yourself a favor and save to your root directory and open that file. Save it as a .mmu file. Check the box to replace the .qbo file and hit the 'Go' button. If you run into trouble, you can go back and save again. If that's too confusing for you, then read the faq/manual. Now that you've finished loading games, go to the 'Media' menu and select the 'XboxController'. Now you need to check the box that says 'Automatic joystick port detection'. This is how Mednafen identifies the controller. You want to check this box, because if you want to emulate the controller you'll want to use the Mednafen port. On most controllers, you'll also want to check 'Support for all buttons', but you don't have to. On the 'Sound' menu, go to the 'Sound Options' submenu and change the 'Inverted Headphones' option. Now use the 'Play' button and start playing a game and you'll be able to listen to your console on your headphones.

For the Saturn and the Dreamcast, the Saturn BIOS is fine (for games, anyway). On the Dreamcast, most likely, your Dreamcast game card would need to "preload" with a Dreamcast BIOS. It's not too hard to find a Dreamcast BIOS image, but it's harder to find a Sega Dreamcast CD BIOS image. Current versions of Mednafen can only boot games from the original CrowdStruck data CD's. It only supports the following games (as of the time I'm writing this): #1 Two / Firebird / 02 (requires BIOS Mednafen A04-FF00) #2 Firebird / 03 (requires BIOS Mednafen A04-0A00) #3 Two / Three / Zor: Combatio / 04 (requires BIOS Mednafen A06-C002) #4 Two / Super Tetris DS (requires BIOS Mednafen A08-F011)... 0: 256 colors (default), 1: 16-color palette, 2: 2-color palette Mednafen Pc Fx Bios 153 Colors used to be stored as 16 bit, but the RAM size is too low for this.
