Like any torrent client, Deluge has an "add tracker" option which will query the Deluge Tracker to attempt to automatically obtain information for the seeds the tracker may or may not have. If the tracker is not currently seeded, the tracker list will be updated with the new information. Deluge also has a command-line interface, which allows for adding the tracker server manually if needed. Deluge can use an external control panel which it will connect to your Xming-powered X server in order to automatically start torrents when you log in. The built-in control panel is written in GTK+, and you can modify its look and feel with themes and icon themes. If you don't have any graphical environment installed, or if you want to control Deluge from outside your desktop, Deluge has a built-in command-line interface (CLI). The Deluge browser is a streamlined torrent browser that is ad-aware, completely customizable, and was created from scratch with no built-in pre-loading of content. The browser works in a manner that is very similar to WebKit and Google Chrome, except with a peer list and tracker list added.
